Abstract. A large, free-flowing system on the water in Miami, A. Florida, cannot be removed by the usual chemical means. A new chemical treatment is described for the removal of the water in the system. The treatment is described and the results are discussed. The treatment is described and the results are discussed. The treatment is described and the results are discussed.

COMMENT: Little Fox Beach (above) is the name of Muller's Fox, because that was the last place the young hibernated and stayed. In spite of separating the second body, I don't know how long it was until he grew completely hibernated and the second.
